III. SUBJECT OF THE CONTRACT AND CLOSING

3.1 The Buyer has the right to purchase Goods through the e-shop, i.e. to enter into a purchasing agreement with the Seller for the purchase of Goods (hereinafter referred to as the "Agreement").

3.2 Purchasing Goods through the Website is a service provided by the Seller within its rights as a retailer. Goods purchased through the Website are not intended for resale by the Buyer for business purposes. In the event that the Buyer wants to buy Goods for the purpose of carrying out their own business activities, the Buyer is required to inform the Seller and fulfil the obligations specified by the Seller to conclude a resale purchase agreement.

3.3 The Agreement between the Buyer and the Seller is finalised by providing all necessary information regarding the specifications of the Goods (goods description, size, colour, etc.), choosing a payment and delivery method and any other necessary information required on the purchasing form in order to place the order. The Buyer is obliged and entitled to check the completed form before the final confirmation and placing of the order and to correct any information where appropriate. After confirmation/submission of the order, which occurs at the moment when the buyer confirms/clicks the the [Confirm your purchase]/[Complete your order and proceed to checkout] button, the data can no longer be changed and the order is binding and the Contract has been concluded except for the following point.

3.4 Based on the placed order, the Seller reserves the right to ask the Buyer for additional confirmation of the order by another suitable means (apart from confirmation on the Website), e.g. by telephone or in writing. If the Buyer refuses to authorize such an order in the required method, the order is considered void and the contract of sale is not concluded.

3.5 If the Buyer fails to pay the purchase price in accordance with the order/contract, the Goods will not be delivered by the Seller and the Contract/order will be cancelled.

3.6 In justified cases the Seller may terminate the Agreement by other means of long-distance communication (other than through the Website) i.e. through e-mail communication or by phone. In this case the Agreement is concluded when:

(i) The Buyer will receive from the Seller by means of long-distance communication (especially e-mail correspondence) a summary of all the essential parts of the Agreement, i.e. product description, price delivery method, cost of delivery and payment, etc.; and

(ii) The Buyer has 12 hours once in receipt of the aforementioned order summary and purchase Agreement to reject or amend the order by responding to the Seller via e-mail at: eshop@klimatex.eu, stating the order number and any other information specified by the Seller for the identification of the order.

3.7 The Seller is not responsible if the Buyer has not received the relevant electronic communication, or even the ordered goods, if it was delivered to the address specified by the Buyer (and/or when a third person was entitled to accept the delivery and the communication and/or Goods were accepted or rejected by this person). The Seller is not able or obliged to identify and check the accuracy of the information completed on the purchasing form of the Website by the Buyer when placing the order. Only the Buyer is responsible for the accuracy of the information provided.

3.8 The Seller is entitled to use cookies or other digital means for assisting in the automatic completion of the purchasing form for orders.

3.9 The conclusion of the Contract between the Seller and the Buyer occurs on the basis of the proper/correct completion of the order form and all mandatory data (the completion of optional data is at the will of the Buyer) on the Website and the final confirmation/submission of the order by the Buyer, which occurs by confirming/clicking the [Confirm your purchase]/[Complete your order and proceed to checkout] button. The Seller shall confirm to the Buyer, by means of remote communication, the receipt of the order (in particular, by means of an e-mail message to the address provided by the Buyer).

3.10 Only Goods expressly ordered by the Buyer are subject to the Agreement, unless otherwise agreed between the Buyer and the Seller.

3.11 The Buyer acknowledges that the Goods offered on the Website by the Seller are also sold to the Seller's customers in the Seller's stores and that information about the Goods in stock on the Website is regularly updated, though it may sometimes happen that the Goods ordered are already sold out (although still listed as available on the Website). In this case, the Seller shall inform the Buyer immediately. If within 2 days both parties cannot agree to either extend the term of the order or choose another product, etc.) the Agreement shall expire and neither party is entitled to any compensation.

3.12 According to the Agreement, the Seller is obliged to deliver the Buyer flawless Goods:

- faultless goods in accordance with the specification stated on the Website in the description of the Goods or in the order for the Goods or with the characteristics that are usual for the type of Goods
- complying with all standards, rules and regulations applicable in the territory of the Czech Republic,
- equipped with Czech instruction manuals and repair lists, if it usual for the type of Goods,

- the tax document (invoice) is physically inserted in paper form in the package delivered with the Goods and/or is sent in electronic form to the e-mail from which the order was placed.

3.13 Upon the Buyer's request, the Seller shall issue the Buyer with a proof of purchase of the Goods with the date of sale, description of the Goods, price of the Goods, place of delivery, date of delivery, together with the Seller's identification data. The Seller shall also comply with this by sending a copy of the order for the Goods. At the same time, the Seller shall deliver to the Buyer, no later than the time of delivery of the Goods to the e-mail address as per the Buyer's order, a confirmation of the concluded purchase contract corresponding to the order of the Goods made by the Buyer; such confirmation of the purchase contract shall correspond to the template which is [HERE - link to the template confirmation of the purchase contract].

3.14 The Buyer acknowledges that the Goods may differ slightly from the photos on the Website (especially due to colour rendering, etc.) and this difference is not to be considered a defect.

3.15 The Buyer is entitled to terminate the already concluded Agreement (to cancel or change the order) if he notifies the Seller about the termination (cancellation of the order) at the latest in 2 hours after the Agreement has been concluded (the order placed) or before the order is at the packing line by e-mail to eshop@klimatex.eu.

4.5 In case the Buyer agrees and authorises the delivery of their Goods to a third person (Agreement in favour of a third person), the entitled third party acquires the ownership right to the Goods by accepting the delivery (and becomes the Buyer with all the Buyer's rights and responsibilities). In case the third person refuses to take possession of the Goods, the Buyer who initially placed the order once again acquires ownership title to the Goods and the Agreement and logistics regarding the fulfilment of the delivery will continue between the Buyer and Seller. If the Buyer sells the Goods to a third person, the third person does not assume any rights above the Seller.

4.6 The Buyer is obliged to thoroughly check and inspect the delivered Goods. In case the Buyer finds the product faulty or somehow at odds with the placed order/Agreement, they are obligated to promptly notify the Seller as specified below for claims resulting from defective Goods.

5.5 The Seller is not obliged but is entitled to deliver the Buyer the invoice or other documents relating to the purchase price (and its payment). Evidence of the price and the obligation to pay the agreed price between the Seller and the Buyer is the Agreement.

5.5 The Buyer shall pay the purchase price with a payment method of their choice, including the price of the chosen method of delivery and the price for the chosen method of payment.

VI. DELIVERY TERMS

6.1 The Seller will deliver the Goods within the time period specified on the Website for the ordered Goods.

6.6 If the Seller is unable to deliver the Goods within the stated period, the Seller shall notify the Buyer of this fact without undue delay. If the parties fail to agree otherwise within five (5) days (to extend the date of delivery of the Goods or otherwise change the order), the Buyer may withdraw from the Contract and neither party shall be entitled to claim any compensation, etc. from the other party.

VII. DELIVERY COSTS

7.1 Besides the obligation to pay the purchase price for the Goods, the Buyer is obliged to pay the Seller for the delivery of Goods in the amount dependent on the delivery method chosen by the Buyer as specified on the Website.

7.2 Delivery costs vary depending on the delivery method offered by the Seller and chosen by the Buyer and include all applicable costs and taxes (especially VAT).

7.3 The current price for delivery of the Goods is inclusive of VAT and is always stated for each delivery method. Due to possible changes in the prices for delivery of the Goods (by carriers), these prices are not listed and updated here, but are always for the Goods on the Website.

(means of distance communication) without giving any reason under the following conditions.

9.5 The Buyer shall not be entitled to withdraw from the Contract for the supply of Goods in sealed packaging which, for health or hygiene reasons, are not suitable for return after they have been damaged by the Buyer - e.g. earphones etc.

9.6 If the Agreement is terminated (or Goods are returned) without reason, the Buyer must send or hand-over the Goods to the Seller without undue delay, no later than 14 days from the delivery of the termination notice. To facilitate the process of returning the Goods, the Buyer will be asked to insert the printed termination notice along with the receipt/invoice

The Seller may return the funds to the Buyer using another payment method, only if agreed by the Buyer and if this method is free of additional costs to the Buyer. The refund will be processed as an international bank transfer via code IBAN of the Buyer.

9.8 If the Buyer has chosen a delivery method of Goods from the Seller (in the order of Goods), other than the cheapest method, the Seller will only refund the Buyer the cost of the cheapest delivery method for the delivery of Goods. In the event that the Buyer withdraws from the purchase contract only in respect to part of the Goods (the Buyer bought more Goods within one Contract / order and withdraws / returns only some Goods) and the price for transport of all Goods was determined / agreed within one Contract / order by one amount for all the Goods, then the Seller does not return the price paid for the transport of the Goods to the Buyer (he returns such a price for transport only if the Buyer withdraws from the entire Contract, i.e. all Goods purchased under one Contract / order).

9.9 If the Buyer withdraws from the Purchase Contract, the Buyer shall bear the costs associated with the return of the Goods to the Seller, even in the case where the Goods cannot be returned due to their nature by the usual postal route; in the event that the Goods cannot be returned due to their nature by the usual postal route and the Buyer is unable to arrange the transport of the Goods, the Seller shall arrange the transport of the Goods from the Buyer (from the place designated by the Buyer), and the Buyer shall be obliged to pay the transport price of [...], -CZK for each kilometre (calculated by road) from the place of collection to the Seller's central warehouse.

"Replacement"). The Seller shall claim the Replacement from the Buyer by sending the Buyer the funds received from the Buyer for the purchase of the Goods less the Replacement, or if the depreciation is not discovered until after the return of the purchase price, the Buyer shall pay the Replacement to the Seller within ten (10) days after the demand for payment.

9.12 For the first exchange of Goods in the specified time, the Seller does not charge any fees for packaging and delivery. The exchange of Goods may be carried out by sending the Goods by mail. In the event that the price of the new product is higher, the Buyer will pay the difference. When exchanging the product, the Buyer must submit the receipt of purchase for the Goods. The exchange of Goods by mail can only be made by sending to the address of the Seller's warehouse.

X. LIABILITY FOR DEFECTS, WARRANTIES, CLAIM ON DEFECTS, SERVICE

10.1 The Seller shall be liable to the Buyer that the Goods are free from defects on receipt. In particular, the Seller shall be liable to the Buyer that at the time the Buyer accepted the Goods, the Goods:

- (i) correspond to the agreed description, type and quantity, as well as quality, functionality, compatibility, interoperability and other characteristics agreed or stated by the Seller,
 - (ii) is fit for the purpose for which it is required by the Buyer and agreed to by the Seller; and
 - (iii) is supplied with the agreed accessories and instructions for use, including assembly or installation instructions,
 - (iv) it is fit for the purpose for which a thing of that kind is normally used, including having regard to the rights of third parties, legislation, technical standards or industry codes of practice, where there are no technical standards,
 - (v) it is equivalent in quantity, quality and other characteristics, including durability, functionality, compatibility and safety, to the usual characteristics of items of the same kind which the buyer can reasonably expect, including in the light of public statements made by the Seller,
 - (vi) is supplied with such accessories, including packaging, assembly instructions and other instructions for use, as the Buyer may reasonably expect; and
- corresponds in quality or workmanship to the sample or template provided by the Seller to the Buyer prior to the conclusion of the Contract.

10.2 The Buyer may complain/assert a defect which becomes apparent in the Goods within two years of receipt. If a defect manifests itself within one year of receipt of the Goods, the Goods shall be deemed to have been defective upon receipt, unless the nature of the Goods or the defect precludes this. This period does not run for the time during which the Buyer cannot use the Goods if he has rightly complained about the defect.

10.3 The Seller shall also be liable to the Buyer for any defect caused by incorrect assembly or installation of the Goods by or under the responsibility of the Seller; the same shall apply if the assembly or installation was carried out by the Buyer and the defect was caused by a defect in the instructions provided by the Seller.

10.4 The Buyer is not entitled to the right of defective performance if the Buyer caused the defect in the Goods. A defect in the Goods shall not include wear and tear caused by normal use or, in the case of a used item, wear and tear corresponding to the extent of its previous use. Goods sold at a lower price cannot be faulted for the defect for which the lower price was agreed.

10.5 [Warranty] If the specific Goods are directly stated, whether on the Site or directly on the Goods, then the Seller warrants the Goods to the Buyer for the period stated in the warranty, commencing from the time of acceptance of the Goods by the Buyer.

10.5.1 The Warranty ensures that the Goods will retain their function and performance for the stated period and under normal use. If this is not the case, then the Buyer shall have the right throughout the warranty period to have the Seller supply new Goods free from defects or to have the Goods repaired and if this is not possible the Buyer shall have the right to cancel the Contract or to demand a reasonable discount.

10.5.2 The buyer is not entitled to the warranty if the defect was caused by an external event or the buyer himself after the responsibility for the goods has passed to the buyer.

10.6 The period from the rightful exercise of the right of liability for defects until the time when the Buyer was obliged to take over the Goods after the end of the complaint procedure is not included in the warranty period. If the Goods are replaced, the warranty period starts again from the receipt of the new item. The same applies to the relevant part if it is replaced. The warranty period is not to be confused with the lifetime of the Goods, i.e. the period of time for which the Goods can last, given their characteristics, their purpose and the variation in the intensity of their use, if properly used and cared for.

10.7 Upon request, the Seller will confirm to the Buyer in writing, to what extent, and for how long it assumes responsibility for any defects found with the Goods. The confirmation shall contain the name, address, identifying information, and/or all information necessary to determine the Seller's identity. If requested, the Seller will explain the content, scope, terms and duration of the responsibility for defects and how the Buyer may assert their rights arising from defects. The Seller will also state what Buyer's rights are not affected by the claim on a defect. If the purchased product does not otherwise require it, a certificate shall replace the proof of purchased goods containing the aforementioned information.

10.8 If the Goods have a defect (i.e., in particular if they do not comply with the above mentioned clause 10.1 of these GTC), the Buyer may demand the removal of the defect. He may also, at his option, demand the delivery of new Goods without defect or the repair of the Goods, unless the chosen method of removing the defect is impossible or unreasonably expensive compared to the other method; this shall be assessed in particular with regard to the significance of the defect, the value the Goods would have without the defect and whether the defect can be removed by the other method without significant difficulties for the Buyer. The Seller may refuse to remedy the defect if it is impossible or unreasonably costly to do so, having regard in particular to the significance of the defect and the value the Goods would have had without the defect.

10.9 The Buyer may, at ones option, demand a reasonable discount or withdraw from the Contract if

- (i) the Seller has refused to remedy the defect or has failed to remedy it in accordance with the Buyer's reasonable request under the preceding clause 10.8 of these GC,
- (ii) the defect appears repeatedly,
- (iii) the defect is a material breach of the Contract, or
- (iv) it is apparent from the Seller's statement or the circumstances that the defect will not be remedied within a reasonable time or without substantial hardship to the Buyer.

10.10 A reasonable discount shall be determined as the difference between the value of the Goods without defect and the defective Goods received by the Buyer.

10.11 The Buyer cannot withdraw from the Contract if the defect in the Goods is insignificant; the defect shall be deemed not to be insignificant - that is, the fact that the defect is insignificant must be proved by the Seller.

10.12 If the Buyer withdraws from the Contract, the Seller shall refund the purchase price to the Buyer without undue delay after receiving the Goods or after the Buyer proves that he has sent the Goods.

10.13 Defect (claim) rights shall be asserted/applied to the Seller from whom the Goods were purchased. However, if the certificate issued by the Seller lists another person designated for repairs and these are in the same location as the Seller or closer to the Buyer, then the Buyer may claim and carry out the repair of the product with this person. The designated person shall ensure the repair is carried out within 30 days, unless the parties agree otherwise.

10.14 It is recommended that the buyer notifies the Seller that the product is defective without undue delay after a defect becomes apparent. The Seller is not liable to compensate for further defects arising from the use of the defective product after the defect became apparent. Along with the notification of the defect, the Buyer must inform the Seller about the particularities of the defect with the respective claim on how it should be settled; the claim settlement cannot be changed unless otherwise agreed with the Seller.

10.15 The location for making a complaint (alleging a defect) is: Žižkova 707/11, Ostrava-Hrušov, ZIP Code 711 00 – by sending the defective Goods with the claim by mail. To facilitate communication, the Buyer should label the package with "Claim for defect - e-shop" and give adequate contact information, such as their address and telephone number. The Seller will not accept any unauthorised delivery requiring payment by the Seller.

10.16 The Buyer is obliged to prove that he purchased the Goods from the Seller and that he claims the defect within the proper time limit (within two years from the receipt of the Goods). Without proving these facts, the Seller is not obliged to accept the claim.

10.17 For an appropriate assessment of defects and their settlement, the Buyer is obliged to deliver the Goods so that the Seller is able to assess and settle the claim. The Seller is not obliged to accept the Goods for defect claims: (i) when it is impossible to assess and settle the claim and/or (ii) when the Goods are not clean, dry, etc. in accordance with general hygienic requirements and/or proper conditions expected of the product.

10.18 The Seller or its authorised person shall decide on the claim over the defect immediately after the delivery of the notice and the Goods for inspection; in complicated cases within three working days. This period does not include the length of time required for the expert assessment of the defect if necessary. Claims over the defect, including the settlement of the defect, must be executed without undue delay, at the latest within 30 days of the claim notice, unless the Seller and the Buyer agree to a longer period.

10.19 The Seller shall inform the Buyer about the settlement of the claim by e-mail.

10.20 The Seller shall present the Buyer with confirmation about the claim over the defect, containing the time of notice/claim, the content of the claim, what settlement(s) over the defect is/are demanded, as well as details about the repair and its duration and a written justification in case the claim is rejected.

10.21 If the defective Goods were sent for the claim assessment by mail, after the settlement of the claim the Seller will send the Goods to the address of the Buyer, otherwise the Goods will be ready for pick up at the point where the claim was made and/or at a respective store.

10.22 If the Buyer does not collect the claimed Goods within the appropriate time period, the Seller is entitled to charge the Buyer for storage of the Goods.

10.23 In case of a justified claim for defects the Buyer is also entitled to claim compensation for reasonable expenses incurred in order to claim the defective Goods, especially standard transportation/delivery costs of the Goods back to the Seller.

XI. MISCELLANEOUS

11.1 In case the Seller provides the Buyer with additional concessions associated with the acquisition of the Goods (such as a lengthier period for the exchange/return of Goods, etc.) then these special conditions offered by and agreed to by the Seller may be employed by the Buyer instead of the standard conditions stated in these TC.

11.2 For other Buyer's claims/rights not specially stated in these TC, the appropriate condition of these TC shall apply mutatis mutandis and/or optionally the standard and conventional trade procedures are applicable for the realization of the Buyer's rights/claims with regard to the protection of the Buyer as a consumer.

11.3 The Seller will accept and settle the Buyer's complaints via the following e-mail address: eshop@klimatex.eu. Information about the settlement of the complaint will be sent by the Seller to the Buyer's e-mail address.
